

Dear, _____

This is really difficult to say. However, I would like you to know something that has been troubling me.

What I want to tell you is:

It's been happening for:

It makes me feel:

This is what i think will help me:

If you have to tell someone what I've said, please try to talk to me about it first. I have been brave in telling you this.

Thank you
